

Money

Link to Article

The Best Hotels in the World 2017

MONEY surveyed 75 national and international hotel chains and ranked brands based on average cost per night, year-over-year price changes, customer service ratings from J.D. Power, and 2016 reader reviews from fellow Time Inc. publication Travel + Leisure. (Read all of MONEY's Best in Travel 2017.)

MID-RANGE HOTEL CHAINS

Three- and four-star hotels that generally cost between $100 and $200 per night

Courtesy of Hilton

Platinum: Hampton by Hilton

If you're looking for a good night's sleep at a price that lets you rest easy, Hampton has you covered. Its signature "Hampton bed" features a custom Serta mattress, quality sheets, and four plush pillows. All that for around $122 a night, less than the average mid-range hotel. The chain's customer service scores in the top third in its class, and Richard Garlick, head of J.D. Power's global travel and hospitality practice, notes that travelers are increasingly prioritizing bedding and linens in the amenities they care most about. At its 2,067 locations across the U.S., Hampton provides free Wi-Fi and breakfast. In a hurry? Many locations offer breakfast-to-go bags on weekdays.