Where do business travelers like to stay when on the road for work?

According to a new study by Certify, which tracks expense reports, Hampton Inn, part of the Hilton family, is the most expensed hotel chain among business travelers. The average amount that travelers spent at Hampton Inn in 2017 was $240.59.

Marriott Hotels came in second with an average cost of $272.15.

This is the fifth year that Certify has released its SpendSmart Report analyzing business travel and expense spending.
